

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

OF THE

YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION,

MAY, 1867.

To the Members of the Young Men's Association:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—In behalf of the Board of Trustees, I submit to you the 20th annual report for the fiscal year ending May 1st, 1867.

The Reports of the various Committees, and of the Treasurer, all show rapid progress and permanent advancement during the year, by far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of your Board:

FINANCES.

The Treasurer's Report herewith submitted shows the receipts

from all sources to be.....	$11,386 95
Total expenditures.....	8,255 40
Leaving a balance in the Treasury of.....	3,133 55
The income of the Association from fines, dues, not including revenues derived from lectures	4,597 32
The regular necessary expenditures, deducting expenses of lectures and new books.....	4,465 75
Excess of ordinary receipts over necessary expenditures.....	131 57

The April semi-annual dues have not all been collected for want of time. Thus it will be seen that for the first time for a long term of years, the Association has been able to meet its necessary expenses from its ordinary income, and without calling on the lecture fund or some outside agency to make up a deficit: this is due entirely to the adoption of the long debated and many times defeated proposition of "raising the dues."

MEMBERSHIP.

The last Annual Report made the membership.....	1,717
The number of new members added during the year.....	412
Total	2,129
Deduct, by removal 92, by forfeiture of membership 27, by death 4, leaving the present number of members.....	2,006
Net increase of membership during the year.....	289

More new members have been made during the last two months, since the new and enlarged rooms were a certainty, than during any previous two months in the history of the Association.

LECTURES.

From the Report of the Lecture Committee it will be seen that there have been given eleven lectures during the year.

Total receipts.....	$4,451 30
Expenses	2,409 40
Net proceeds.....	$2,041 90

While the Association secured many of the first and ablest lecturers in the country, giving its members the advantages of a course of lectures fully equal, if not superior, to the course of the previous year, yet the net receipts show a falling off of $685.90. This is owing, in a measure, to the great number of lectures given during the year, thereby creating somewhat of a distaste for this class of amusement. Your Board would recommend in the future that the system of extra lectures be, in a great measure, abandoned, and that all lecturers appear for once at least in the regular course. This will at once meet the objection many urge against the purchase of season tickets, viz: "That all the best lecturers are extra, and not on the season course." The sale of season tickets is of vital importance, as it will be seen that almost the entire profits of the past year arose from this source.

LIBRARY.

The number of volumes in the Library at the commencement of the year was.....	8,164
Purchased and added during the year.....	1,802
Donations... ..	142
Added during the year by binding papers and periodicals.....	101
	<hr/> 10,209
Deduct duplicate volumes sold	2
Total number of volumes in the Library, May 1st, 1867,.....	<hr/> 10,207

The number of books added to the Library during the past year has exceeded by several hundred volumes that of any former year since the organization of the Association. The selection embraces, besides the current issues of the press, many esteemed names in the departments of literature, which have not previously appeared on our shelves, and chosen with a studious regard to the varied wants of members. The student of history, science, theology and philosophy, and the general reader, will find not only many established favorites, but some works which, for their rarity and value, demand special attention.

PERIODICALS AND NEWSPAPERS.

Quarterly 11, bi-monthly 2, monthly 19, semi-monthly 1, weekly 18, illustrated weekly 8, tri-weekly and semi-weekly 6, daily 21, serial 4; total 90.

The reading room as yet lacks commercial papers, and this Board would recommend that, on entering the new rooms, all the commercial papers in the United States and Canadas be at once placed on the files of the reading room. This addition would induce our merchants to frequent the rooms daily.

NEW CATALOGUE.

The supply of the last catalogue and both supplements having become exhausted, the present Board have yielded to the demand of the members and taken the preliminary steps toward the publication of a complete catalogue of the library. The work, however, cannot be completed until the books can be called in, re-arranged and re-numbered, which we presume our successors will take the occasion of our removal to "Library Building" to have done, and to them we remit the light and pleasing duty.

DONATIONS.

The Association is indebted to the Hon. O. H. Browning, Secretary of the Interior, for sets of the publications of the 1st and 2d sessions of the XXXVIII. Congress; to the Hon. Halbert E. Paine, for the various Congressional Reports, as well as military and naval maps and charts; to our own Secretary of State, Hon. Thos. S. Allen, and Assemblyman Clason, for current state publications; to A. R. Spofford, Esq., Librarian of Congress, for a copy of the works of James Madison, and his own reports and catalogue; to Frederick Townsend, Esq., for sundry works, including the products of his own facile pen; to Lewis J. Germain, Esq., for twenty-one volumes of the Mechanics' Magazine; to the Unitarian Church of Milwaukee, for several recent works by writers of that denomination; to E. P. Hotchkiss, Esq., for several photographic views of southern subjects, together with specimens of Confederate poetry, astronomical observations, and bank notes; to Mrs. D. C. Abbey, Miss M. L. Brown, Messrs. A. Markham, M. R. Keegan and A. Bailey, for other valuable contributions to our library.

We are also under obligations to the officers of the New York Mercantile Library Association, to those of the Young Men's Association of Albany and Buffalo, the Mercantile Library Association of Brooklyn, the Young Men's Christian Association of New York, the Young Men's Society of Detroit, the Young Men's Institute of Hartford, the Mercantile Library Company of Philadelphia, the Mechanics' Institute of Cincinnati, and to the Trustees of the Boston Public Library, for their respective reports, and to the Officers of Harvard University, Nashotah House, and the University of Notre Dame, for their catalogues; to F. C. Pomeroy, Esq., for reports of school commissioners; to the Chicago Historical Society, and to Major Willard and E. Dumas, Esq., for other publications in pamphlet form.

NEW ROOMS IN LIBRARY BUILDING.

At the very opening of the year your Board found it necessary to take some immediate steps for the increasing of shelf room, as very many of the most valuable works, mostly books of reference, were stored away on the tops of shelving or in covered departments underneath, beyond reach or out of sight. As a temporary relief the north side of the room, formerly used for paper racks, was converted into shelving, and the papers placed on the railing which was extended around the entire room. This arrangement afforded relief until the library received an accession of some 2,000 additional volumes, when every nook and corner was filled, even to the Directors' room, and still books begging for shelf room. This overcrowded condition of things, and the consequent dissatisfaction on the part of the members, demanded action on the part of the Board looking toward enlarged quarters. The Board appointed a committee to invite propositions from the various parties contemplating building new blocks, as well as from parties owning blocks already completed, and to obtain, if possible, a sufficiently large and desirable accommodation for the Association, and to meet their demands for a long term of years. This committee, consisting of John R. Goodrich, H. H. West and your President, after critically examining the propositions from various parties, recommended that the proposition of Messrs. Miller and Finch to convert the "Academy of Music," in Young's Block, into rooms for the Association, be accepted, provided satisfactory arrangements could be made. This location was selected as being in a block noted for its elevated situation, on the corner of two main thoroughfares, near the Post-office, making it the most central, and likely to be however much the city may grow, giving ample room, easy of access from both streets, and by far the largest and most commodious quarters in the city. The report of the committee would have been at once accepted by the Board, had not a serious question arisen, namely: how to meet the necessarily greatly increased expenses of the Association. This obstacle could only be overcome in one way—by the increase of the annual dues. It was decided to bring this matter before the Association before any action toward securing the rooms was taken. Accordingly a meeting was called and a resolution of the Board for the raising of the dues was submitted. A very large attendance was secured, and the action of the Board was endorsed by the unanimous passage of the resolution. The means having been provided, the Board adopted the recommendations of the committee on new rooms, and instructed them to at once negotiate with Messrs. Miller and Finch for the carrying out of their proposition. The committee entered into the work in good earnest, and after fixing on the terms of the lease, the work of refitting the new rooms was promptly commenced by the owners. The terms of the lease are as follows: The first five years at the annual rent of $1,200, the following five years at $1,500, with the privilege of renewal for the next ten years at an annual rent of $2,000, notice of renewal to be given at least six months prior to expiration of the ten years,

PLAN OF NEW ROOMS.

The entire room will be 120x53 and 27 feet high, library 53x75, reading room 45x53, separated by an ornamental partition about 10 feet high. The floor of the library will be laid with walnut and ash, alternate strips; the floor of the reading room, in order to render it as quiet as possible, will be covered with corn matting. The book cases, Librarian's desk, and the general finish of rooms, will be of black walnut and pine, oiled and varnished. The reading room will be arranged with reading stands and racks, for files of papers, and tables for magazines and periodicals. The walls and ceiling of the library and reading rooms will be frescoed in the best style of art. There will be two large Directors' rooms connected by folding doors, with a large vault. These rooms can be used for chess playing, if deemed advisable.

There is to be an entrance to the library and reading room from Wisconsin street, and a ladies' entrance and stairway from Main street. There will be shelf-room for not less than 15,000 volumes, which can be increased to 25,000 or 30,000, by putting in a light ornamental iron gallery. The rooms will be lighted by three large reflectors. When completed, which will be about the middle of June, these rooms will be second to none, if equalled by any, on the continent. No time or trouble has been spared by the Committee and members of the Board, to so arrange and finish these rooms as to render them complete in every respect. The Association are under great obligations to E. Townsend Mix, Esq., architect, for valuable assistance in preparing the designs, and to B. K. Miller and M. H. Finch, for the generous manner in which they have carried out the various plans and suggestions of the committee and architect.

To the new Board we commit the charge of seeing that all contracts are faithfully fulfilled, the inauguration and "the entering in and enjoying the promised land."

In conclusion, I beg leave to return my sincere thanks to each and every member of the Board, for their uniform courtesy toward and co-operation with their presiding officer. In leaving my official position, I will assure the members of the Association that I shall lose none of my interest in the welfare of the Association. Into the hands of whomsoever may be committed the charge we now resign, we can only wish that their efforts may be crowned with still greater success.

Respectfully submitted,
LOYAL R. DURAND, President.

H. H. WEST,

Chairman Library Committee.

Milwaukee, May 7, 1867.

REPORT OF THE LECTURE COMMITTEE.

To the President and Board of Trustees of the Young Men's Association:

Your Committee, who had the Lectures of the past season in charge, have the honor to submit the following report :

There were given before the Young Men's Association during the past season, eleven lectures, commencing with J. B. Gough, on the 29th of November, and ending with Judge McArthur, on the 24th of April last. It was the aim of your Committee to lend as much variety as possible to the course, by procuring lecturers of different characteristics. Thus you find the names of a showman and a bishop side by side on our season tickets. It was also the endeavor of your Committee to secure most, if not all, the Eastern lecturers of acknowledged reputation who came West; and if there are those who are inclined to regret that one or two of these distinguished gentlemen came very near us but were allowed to pass without coming to Milwaukee, let them be assured that the Lecture Committee fully share their regret, but were unable, by reason of other engagements previously made, to invite these gentlemen to Milwaukee with any reasonable prospect of success. But it is not proposed to discuss in this report the merits of the lectures presented, or the question whether a better course might or might not have been arranged. Leaving the former to the public, who have so liberally patronized our course, and the latter to our successors, we will confine our remarks to the pecuniary results of the season. Upon this point it is very gratifying to your Committee to be able to report that, with the single exception of Mr. Gough's extra lectures, which were so eminently successful and remunerative the two previous seasons, yet proved so complete and unexpected a failure this year, the course has been one of unparalleled success. While last year's season, with a profit on Gough's extra lectures of $766.50, paid into the treasury $2,727.60, this year's, with a loss of $105.95, produces a net balance of $2,041.90, so that last year's, without these lectures, amounted to only $1,961.10, and this year's, without them, would have netted $2,147.85. The very great success which had up to that time attended Mr. Gough's lectures in this city, induced last year's Board of Trustees to engage him for four lectures for this year's season, requesting him, however, to place them at intervals, which, it seemed, his very protracted tour through the West would enable him to do without difficulty. It may be considered fortunate for us that Mr. Gough filled but three of these engagements, especially as he made his arrangements so as to come to Milwaukee but once, and give all his lectures on consecutive evenings. This, and unfavorable weather are doubtless among the causes which contributed to the failure of these extra lectures. Nevertheless, his lectures, which brought such handsome profits in former seasons, were also given on consecutive evenings, and your Committee must confess to the conviction that, by reason of his frequent appearance before us, Mr. Gough has lost something of his attraction for our lecture-going public. It is to be hoped that his appearance after a total absence of one or more years, will revive their enthusiasm for his truly wonderful powers. The following is a summary of the account of the lecture season :

Expenses.....	238 00
Profits.....	$243 50
Net profits on extra lectures.....	$105 45
Interest on deposits of lecture funds.....	39 50
Net profits of lecture season.....	2,041 90

It will be noticed that nearly the whole of our profit is derived from the regular course, and more than one-half of our gross receipts from the sale of season tickets. The very large sale of season tickets was accomplished through the personal efforts of members of the Board and our efficient Librarian, Mr. Arnold, in canvassing the city.

The experience of the past season has led your Committee to the belief that, in seeking to derive an annual income from lectures, our Association will have to depend in the main on the "regular course" with its season tickets. Extra lectures are not only subject to the risk of unfavorable weather and a variety of other untoward circumstances, but they are growing unpopular, and it is to be feared that if they are continued to any considerable extent they will bring disfavor upon our entire system of lectures, it being charged, not without some show of reason, that our regular course is made up of comparatively indifferent talent, and the ablest speakers reserved for extra lectures. We do not urge the entire abandonment of extra lectures. There are circumstances which render them highly proper. This year, for instance, our entire programme had been prepared, our lecturers engaged and two-thirds of the lectures, in fact, delivered, when Wendell Phillips announced his intention of coming West. We had, therefore, no choice but to have him give an extra lecture or not speak in Milwaukee at all. What we mean to say is that extra lectures should be resorted to as an exception and not made the rule. To secure the permanent success of our system of lectures it will be found necessary, in general, to place the very ablest and most popular speakers that can be procured on the regular course.

Within the last two years a union of western literary societies has been formed with a view to united action, through a common corresponding secretary, in the engagement of lecturers. Mr. Edwin L. Brown, of Chicago, has acted as secretary of the association the past year, and during that year the number of societies belonging to it has increased from about thirty to upwards of one hundred. The very great inducements which such an association can offer to lecturers from the east and from abroad must be manifest to all. It offers them a larger field of labor than they are likely to obtain through correspondence with individual societies, and enables them to arrange extensive tours by correspondence with a single man. The practical working of this institution has only just commenced, but it has proved entirely satisfactory. Hereafter no lecturer, it may be safely assumed, who desires to travel within its circuit, will fail to avail himself of the advantages of this association, and many of the ablest lecturers of the Eastern States whom individual societies have never been able to induce to come west, will, it is hoped, yield to the pressure of a hundred acting in unison. The societies belonging to this association will, of course, have the monopoly, or, at least, the first choice of all the lecturers engaged through its agency, and thus can secure the best lecturing talent of the land to the exclusion of societies which do not and cannot belong to it. Our Young Men's Association is one of the original members of this union, and will of course continue its membership. In view of the advantages which it thus enjoys it is believed that no other society or association in this city will be able to organize a course of lectures, that shall seriously rival or endanger the success of ours. We do not, therefore, apprehend that, even if the attempts which were made last winter on the part of other organizations to establish a series of lectures with a view to revenue, should be repeated, the lectures of the Young Men's Association will thereby lose any considerable share of the patronage they now enjoy. At the same time we cannot but regret that other associations should invade the field which by time-honored custom seem to belong to the Young Men's Association, especially as a second course of lectures can at best but achieve a very limited success.

In the management of the lecture course your committee have received the most valuable aid from the President and other members of the Board, as well as a very generous and courteous support on the part of the city press.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED. C. WINKLER,

Chairman Lecture Committee.

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT NAZRO,
AT THE
OPENING OF THE NEW ROOMS,
IN LIBRARY BUILDING, SEPTEMBER, 1867.

Ladies and Gentlemen and Members of the Young Men's Association:

I have the pleasure and the honor to present to you this magnificent library and reading room. Some members of this association are no doubt surprised at the delay in opening these rooms, as it was intimated by the last Board of Directors that this Association would open these rooms about the middle of June, but the delay has been unavoidable. We have opened them at the earliest possible moment, and we have finished them in the best manner possible, in accordance with the means at our command. We are weak in means, but strong in hope, and believe that the city of Milwaukee will not permit this important institution to lag. This Association was born in the year 1847. In March, 1848, the first appropriation of $500 was made for the purchase of books. Since then we have struggled through some dark days, but, mostly, our career has been bright, subsisting entirely upon the dues of membership and upon the profits of lectures given under the direction of the Association, until, at this present time, this Association numbers 2,000 members, and its library contains over 10,200 volumes, and the reading room 100 periodicals and newspapers—a wonderful growth upon so small a basis, and no direct appeal. We have expended beyond the means in the treasury at the commencement of the year to a large amount, your trustees having full faith that the members of the Association and our citizens would cheerfully aid, and feel it a privilege to aid, us in replenishing the treasury, and enable us to complete our work. We have, yet, many important additions to make. Milwaukee has no public reading room, and we desire to increase the reading matter so as to make it attractive and useful to our business men and merchants. We need more shelving, heating apparatus, tables, books, periodicals and newspapers; but do not feel at liberty to extend our field of operations without the necessary fund to meet these liabilities.

This Association has not, since its original formation, called upon the public, or found it necessary to make a direct appeal for assistance, but the trustees think it is entitled to your deepest consideration, your warmest sympathies, believing it is productive of great good in its moral and intellectual benefits to those who enjoy its privileges.

It is certainly an honor to Milwaukee to have such an institution within its borders. Every member of this Association, indeed every citizen, should and ought to feel a just pride in this magnificent library and reading room, which we will venture to say is not surpassed in the Northwest, and excelled, if at all, by only a very few in the large and prosperous commercial centers of this country—New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

Milwaukee is the largest primary wheat market in the United States, a cereal which enters largely into the support of the body. Let our citizens see to it that it contains a library and reading room well stored with intellectual food for the mind.

The annual dues of the membership are $3.00, a very small sum for such great advantages. The amount necessary to become a life member is $50, though there is no rule of the Association to prevent any citizen making this amount $100, or even $1,000, should they feel so liberally disposed towards us. To complete all our plans, pay for what we have done, purchase more books, papers, &c., which are absolutely necessary to keep this Association up to the proper standard, it will require a donation on the part of our citizens of at least $10,000. That amount may seem large to you, but I assure you, fellow citizens, as one of its members, there is no money that we can pay for the greater good of the greater number than by giving your liberal and generous support to this library and reading room.

I most respectfully, in behalf of the Board of Directors, and Young Men's Association, call upon you at this time to aid us. I cannot close these few remarks without, in this public manner, showing the obligation of this Association to Messrs. Finch and Miller, the proprietors of this room, who have so elegantly presented it to us for our accommodation, to Mr. Lydston, who designed and executed this magnificent fresco, to Mr. Mix, the architect, and to Mr. Jacks, the carpenter, and Mr. Williams, the carver.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, there are honorable gentlemen who will address you, and after that an opportunity will be given you to show your faith by your works.

SKETCH OF THE HISTORY OF THE ASSOCIATION.

[REPRINTED FROM THE CATALOGUE OF 1861.]

This record is compiled from information gathered from official sources, and from past officers of the Association, and is presented here as a collection of facts which will have an increasing interest for members, both old and new.*

On Wednesday evening, December 8th, 1847, a number of citizens of the, then, new city of Milwaukee, met in the parlor of the United States Hotel (corner of East Water and Huron streets, burned in 1854,) in pursuance of a call published in the newspapers, to take preliminary steps for the formation of a Young Men's Literary Association. S. Osgood Putnam, (now of California) was President of the meeting, and E. P. Allis, Secretary. After considerable consultation and discussion, on motion of H. W. Tenney, resolutions were adopted in favor of the establishment of a Library in connection with a Reading room and Debating Society, and for the appointment of a committee to draft a Constitution for the organization of a Young Men's Association. The committee consisted of Messrs. Putnam, Mason, Vliet, Tenney, Holton and VanDyke.

On the 13th of December the committee submitted the draft of a Constitution which was considerably discussed and finally adopted by the meeting, but at an adjourned meeting, Dec. 18th, the subject was again discussed, and the record shows that objections were made to 13 of the 19 articles which composed the Constitution, and the whole matter was referred to a new committee, who, on the 20th of December, reported a revised document, which, in turn, was discussed and rejected, and the original report, somewhat amended, was finally adopted, and the Young Men's Association had a beginning.

The original Constitution divided members into two classes, by age; those over 25 years being classed as honorary members, and required to pay $5.00 initiation, and those between 18 and 35, being regular members, and paying an initiation fee of $2.00. Both classes paid $2.00 yearly. Life members were admitted to either class on payment of $25.00, in one sum, and paid no yearly dues. Besides these classes of members, persons under 18 years of age had the privilege of the library on payment of dues, but had no vote, and were ineligible to office. The offices were divided between the two classes of members. The honorary members taking five trustees, and the regular members two trustees, the President, two Vice Presidents, the Treasurer and the Corresponding and Recording Secretaries. This classification of officers was not adopted until after considerable discussion, and at the end of a year the system was revised, the classification dispensed with and the board of officers established, as it still remains. The first election of officers, to hold till the regular election in January, was had in the Common Council Rooms, on the 20th of December, 1847, though the election was not completed until the following week. A list of the officers is given elsewhere. The Constitution fixed the Wednesday following the second Tuesday in January, as the day of the annual election, and accordingly the first annual election was held January 19, 1848.

*The Committee are under great obligations to J. R. Brigham, Esq., for valuable assistance rendered by him in the preparation of this sketch. His personal recollections of the early history of the Association have enabled us to give a much fuller and more interesting account of that period than could possibly have been derived from the bare records of the Association. H. W. Tenney, now of Madison, has also furnished many interesting reminiscences.

So far the proceedings of the Association had shown a special aptitude for debate and animated discussion, but after several weeks spent in the settlement of fundamental principles and the preliminaries for a permanent organization, and after the election of a full board of officers, it still remained to secure members and money to give the Association practical existence, and there were found earnest and active men, who undertook this somewhat thankless task, and to their labor we owe it that we now have an Association and a Library. On the 5th of February they reported a subscription of $1,513, and a membership consisting of 52 life members, 20 honorary members, and 49 regular members. A room was leased in what was then the second, now third, floor of the building still standing at the northwest corner of Wisconsin and Main streets, at a rent of $100 per year, "furnished with tables, chairs, bookcases, and other necessary fixtures for the use of the Association," in a style, of which an idea may be had from the fact that the bills for the same amounted to considerably less than $50. The sum of $500 was appropriated for the purchase of books, and this, together with some donations, and some books received in payment of subscriptions, produced a library, which, at the end of the first year of the Association, numbered 810 volumes, and together with eleven of the leading English and American Quarterlies and Monthlies, constituted the attractions of the room, which was open on Wednesday afternoon and Saturday evening of each week, under the charge of Edward Hopkins, who volunteered to do duty as the first librarian, and to whose care and systematic labor during the first two years of the existence of the Association very much is due.

At the annual meeting in January, 1849, the Constitution was revised and amended, as has been stated. The initiation fee was reduced to $1.00 for all members. The time of the annual election was changed to December. During this year, the interest in the library continued and grew, and for a part of the time the room was kept open every evening. The number of members rose to 146. The receipts of the year were $303.44, which, with a surplus from the previous year, gave a fund of which $219.35 were expended for books, and $119.28 for incidental expenses. Two hundred and ninety-nine new volumes were added to the library, and the list of periodicals was enlarged. We may presume that the directors found some difficulty in collecting dues and subscriptions, from the fact that it was officially recommended at the annual meeting, that measures be taken to procure the legal incorporation of the Association in order that it might enforce its collections, though we are not aware that to this day the legal business of the Association has been a profit to any attorney.

The third annual meeting was held December 4, 1849, and showed that the interest in the Association was well maintained. The attendance was large and spirited, and the discussion of various matters and plans for the benefit of the Association continued until a late hour. A committee was appointed to canvass the city for new members and subscriptions; the necessity of a new and more attractive room was urged; a course of lectures was proposed, and other suggestions made and considered, all very much the same in kind, we may venture to say, that have been proposed, considered and discussed, among its members and directors, every year from that to this. At this time so much interest was manifested that an adjourned meeting was held and more discussion was had, and, among other things it was strongly urged that the only way to reach the object desired, the establishment of a good public library, was to create a joint stock company, whose affairs should be managed as any other business operation. It was, however, not found practicable to get the consent of all the subscribers to this arrangement, and that objection to the plan has grown stronger every year since. During this year a lecture before the Association was given by Chancellor Lathrop. A new room was obtained in the then new Martin's Block. Mr. Hopkins gave up the charge of the library, and Thomas Hislop was appointed librarian and received a small salary. Eighty new members were added during the year, and the course of the Association showed no step backward.

December 4, 1850—The fourth annual election and the beginning of the fourth year of the Association. During this year was commenced the first course of lectures before the Association, and although the lecturers were home men, and the admittance fee quite small ($1.00 for a family, to the course, and ten cents a single admission,) the result was satisfactory, and some of the lectures attracted considerable attention, and gave rise to some newspaper discussion. Debates were also started during this year, in the fall of 1851, and for some time created a good deal of interest and weekly excitement. Three hundred and sixty dollars and seven cents were expended in books and periodicals this year, and one hundred new books were added to the library which then numbered 1,320 volumes. The other expenditures of the year amounted to $157.92.

The fifth annual election, December 3d, 1851, was a scene of great excitement; not so much from the number of votes, as from the kind, as the record shows the whole number cast to have been sixty-eight. But the report of the inspectors, and the tradition of the times, tell us that in the anxiety of contending aspirants for official honor, some forgot an article in the Constitution which prescribed the qualifications of voters, and a rigid inquiry on the part of three grave inspectors of election disclosed the fact that some illegal votes had been cast. A long report was made, upon which a stormy debate arose, and even acrimony is said to have been exhibited; but the difficulty was finally surmounted by the remarkable (though the event would show, not unwise,) proposition by the new President elect, that all officers who claimed to have been elected should resign and allow a new election, which was agreed to. The election was held December 9th, and the result was that some of the self-sacrificing men who had resigned, to save the Society, were again elected, but others were not. It is a matter of dispute to this day, among the most active participants in that wrangle, which party was really in earnest and which only feigned an excitement, to keep up an interest in the meetings of the Association.

In November of this year, new rooms for the Association were obtained on the first floor of the large new block of W. P. Young, corner of Wisconsin and Main streets; but the library had hardly been established there before the whole block was burned to the ground, and the Association was indebted to its active members and friends for saving its property. The small loss sustained was fully covered by an insurance; and the Association next found a landlord in S. L. Rood, and occupied his rooms over store No. 204 East Water street, the entrance at that time being from Wisconsin street.

In March, 1852, the Association was incorporated by act of the Legislature, its then Board of Directors being made corporators. The time of the annual meeting and election was changed to October. During this year a new catalogue was published—the second.

October 5th, 1852, the sixth annual election. In the winter of this year a second course of lectures, by home lecturers, was given. They were fairly attended, though they did not draw large audiences, except the two lectures on the "Spanish Inquisition," by the (then) Rev. Dr. Ives. These attracted full houses and made considerable sensation. More profit was realized out of a musical entertainment, undertaken by the Directors, for the benefit of the library. By aid of some members of the Musical Society, and some generously given assistance of ladies and gentlemen not accustomed to public exhibitions of their talent, the concert was well attended and well received, and a net profit of $70 was realized, which was applied to the purchase of books, and produced a valuable addition to the library.

October 5th, 1853, commenced the seventh, and as it proved, a most important year of the Association. At this time, notwithstanding its library and reading room afforded pleasure and profit to its members, they were few, and the Association was hardly known to the public generally—it filled no important place in the public mind. Its reading room was most of the time without visitors. Its annual meetings, which at first had been attended and participated in by many of our best and most influential citizens, were no longer interesting, and passed almost without notice. Anxious directors all agreed that something must be done to make the library more attractive, and to induce new members to join. Among other plans, it was sometimes proposed to unite with the Musical Society in the purchase, or lease, of some central lot and the erection of a fine hall; but this it was thought best, after deliberation, to abandon, or at least postpone till it was well settled that the Association could pay the rent of its present rooms. About this time a destructive fire left our landlord, Mr. Rood, without a place of business, and he gave his attention to his tenant—the Association. He became librarian, and by dint of much industry and great skill in making it uncomfortable for any body he applied to who did not join, and very comfortable and pleasant for all who did, he gained many new members to the Association. He went into the street with a subscription paper—an undertaking at that time quite too desperate for any body else—and soon realized a sum which put the library and reading room in good condition. A new carpet, new gas fixtures, a change of the clumsy book-cases which had come down from the beginning, for a neat and commodious shelving, and a general brushing up and improvement of all the interior arrangements of the Association, were his satisfactory vouchers to subscribers. The library was kept open during business hours, day and evening, and became a pleasant and frequented place of resort. The great event of the year, however, was the course of lectures. It had at that time become the fashion in other Western cities to call wise men from the East and give the citizens of the new country a chance to see who is who, and learn what is what in the old, by hebdomadal lectures. It was determined that the Young Men's Association should do this for Milwaukee. It should be remembered that at this time Milwaukee was a far and almost unknown country to lecturers. No railroad then connected us with the East; and in the winter season we had been accustomed to regard ourselves as more completely shut out from communication with the seaboard, than those who only know Milwaukee as it now is can well imagine. But we had a telegraph and a part of the Milwaukee & Mississippi Railroad, and it was decided to try. It happened that the management of the matter fell into the hands of one who had enthusiasm, perseverance and business capacity, and to him chiefly (though aided by others) is due the final, complete and surprising success of our first course of lectures by men from abroad—we so style it, though, perhaps, no lecture gave more satisfaction than that by our own Mr. Ryan. We need not say, for any one who was in Milwaukee during that winter, that we refer to B. W. Griswold (now of New York city), who, as chairman of the Lecture Committee, was untiring in his attention from first to last. As a precaution, thought to be necessary, in the first place, a guaranty subscription was obtained from some forty persons to protect the Association in case of loss by the venture. Season tickets, for families and individuals, were hawked about the streets by the committee and other members of the Board, until $700 were realized before the lectures commenced. Advertising was done in all the usual modes, and also by members of the Board personally, who, one and all, talked lectures everywhere, until it was almost true that the chairman and his committee neither did, talked, nor thought anything but lectures continually. The result was a success which gave the association a net profit of $833.39 for its library and a recognized position as an institution in Milwaukee. The annual report of the doings of the year shows: total receipts, $1,288.54; total expenditures, $1,148.36, (this statement includes only net profits of lectures as receipts;) an addition to the library of 351 volumes by purchase; 102 new members added to the Association; a new catalogue, and a prosperous condition of things generally.

October 4, 1854, the eighth regular election. By a change in the Rules, the Board elected at this time continued in office only till May. They were expected to provide a course of lectures, which had come to be a recognized demand of the people, and duty of the Association. Ten lectures were given at a cost of $897.80, and with a net profit to the Association of $358.46. During the term, forty-one new members were added. The expenses, beside lectures, were $596.51.

The time of the election having been changed, to give time to prepare for the annual courses of lectures, the ninth annual election was held May 2, 1855. This year our Association formally joined with that of Chicago in obtaining a course of lectures, both Associations being able to offer inducements and to secure lecturers which neither alone could have done. The expenses of the course were $1,606.85, and the net profits were $360. This result was not regarded as satisfactory by the Committee, who report that the same course in Chicago cleared over $1,500. During the year one hundred and forty new members were added, and one hundred and twenty volumes were purchased for the Library. The total receipts (including lectures) were $2,377.23; the expenses (beside lectures) were about $600.

May 7, 1856—Election. This year it was not thought best to undertake a full course of lectures, to occur weekly, for which tickets should be sold in advance, as heretofore; but the Committee determined to secure such as they could obtain of those lecturers coming West, who would, in the opinion of the Committee, draw good houses in Milwaukee. Eight lectures were given (among them, three by John B. Gough,) at a cost of $768.32, and with a clear profit of $359.35. About four hundred new books were added to the Library by purchase, besides many valuable works by donation; forty new members were added. During this year, the Directors concluded (not without hesitation) that the Association needed, and would support, new and larger rooms and a larger yearly expenditure, and the suite of rooms now occupied were rented for a term of years. During this year, also, the newspaper reading-room was established and furnished with twenty-five of the leading dailies of this country and Canada. The gross receipts this year were $2,380.19, and the expenditures were $2,303.12.

May 6th, 1857—The eleventh year of the Association. At the beginning of this year the Association took possession of its new rooms and materially increased its annual expenses; and the Board found that it required some labor and care to provide for all the demands on the treasury. A careful examination disclosed that, while the apparent membership was much larger, the Association had, in fact, but about 300 reliable paying members, beside 40 life members. Lectures, as a source of revenue, were not available; their novelty had worn off. Indeed, a glance at the names of those who had already been presented to Milwaukee audiences, will show that the Association had pretty well gleaned the field of celebrities in that line, and that there were not many more whom people would pay to look at. Geo. W. Curtis, Horace Mann, Bayard Taylor, Horace Greeley, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Parke Godwin, James Russell Lowell, John G. Saxe, Josiah Quincy, Jr., John Pierpont, John B. Gough, Wendell Phillips, T. Starr King, Henry Ward Beecher, George Sumner and Dr. H. W. Bellows, were in the lists of those who had been here. The Association could not afford to risk a course of lectures, the profit of which to the treasury would be doubtful. For the purpose of testing the question, one popular lecturer was brought here and every reasonable effort was made to get him an audience; but the result was a failure and a loss to the Association, and no more were attempted. The great commercial crisis had so darkened all prospects, that it was often a matter of serious consideration with the Directors how they were to pay the debts and expenses incurred during the year and leave the treasury sound at the close. It was determined to make a special effort for more life members, and at the personal solicitation of Directors, seventeen gentlemen joined the Association as life members and paid into its treasury $425. One hundred and forty-two yearly members were added, and at the close of the year the Board were able to report all debts paid and a balance on hand. The total receipts of the year (no lectures) were $1,351.29, and the expenditures $1,284.35.

May 5th, 1858, began another year of the Association. It will be seen by the list of officers, that at the election this year, the Board of Directors was almost wholly changed. It is but just to those gentlemen who composed the previous Board, some of whom had been connected with its management and had worked for the Association from its start, and most of whom had been associated in its direction for more than half a decade, to say that they did not leave their work, nor abandon their charge, till they saw the Association established, its position assured, and its prospects of power and usefulness bright. They now felt that they might claim a discharge and leave the work to those who might bring to it a fresher zeal, but could not feel a deeper interest in the prosperity of our Association.

The election this year was remarkable for the interest shown and the number of votes cast, being nearly two hundred—nearly three times the number of late years. The Board thus elected carried on the work vigorously. They added to the number of periodicals and newspapers of the reading room; they increased the salary of the librarian to compensate him for increase of duty with the increase of members; they adopted the plan of purchasing new and popular books as soon as published, and advertising them as they were received; they made special efforts for increasing the membership, and 296 new members were added during the year; they added to the library, by purchase, donation and binding of pamphlets, seven hundred and ninety-three volumes. The total receipts of the year were $2,522.29; the expenditures were $2,506.17. Included in the receipts was the sum of $786.67, received on insurance to cover loss by a fire in the building, which had nearly been more serious. Lectures were tried again at a cost of $866.10, and a profit of $241.15. The Board also revised and amended the General Rules and Regulations, adapting them to the wants of the Association in its present condition. These Rules were adopted at the annual meeting.

May 5th, 1859—This year was a most successful one for the Association. A good deal of interest had been taken in the election, and although three tickets were in the field, the "Regular Ticket" (so called) was elected throughout. Nearly 300 votes were cast, a number of new members added, and a general awakening in regard to the interests of the Association was the result. A new set of "Rules and Regulations of the Board of Directors" was adopted, to accompany the revised Rules and Regulations of the Society, adopted at the last annual meeting, and the Rules of the Library and Reading Room were also revised by the committee in charge of that department. Everything in the power of the Board was done to improve the condition of the Association and to enlarge its means of usefulness. An address to the public was prepared by a committee, and extensively circulated, and a canvass of the city similar to that of last year resulted in a considerable increase of membership. The whole number of members added during the year was 237. A musical and literary entertainment undertaken for the benefit of the library, proved, however, that the public could not yet be relied upon with certainty to support the Directors in their endeavors to push forward the institution, as the net profits of the evening amounted to the enormous sum of $4.25! During the year, application was made by the "Builders and Architects' Association" for the purpose of forming a union with the Association, and a committee was appointed to confer with that body; but after a full hearing of their purposes and demands, it was found to be inexpedient to meet their wishes, and the matter was accordingly dropped.

The course of lectures given this year proved highly successful, the receipts amounting to $1,134.28, and the net profits to $463.19. The improvements in the library were also extensive, over 400 volumes having been added, of which 155 were donations. Among the most extensive donors, it seems proper to mention Mr. John Hepburn, who contributed many valuable works, more especially in a department of literature in which the library was greatly deficient, and the "friends of the new church in Milwaukee," who enriched our shelves with a splendid edition of the complete works of Emanuel Swed-enborg. The Association is also under a deep debt of gratitude to the Hon. John F. Potter for the handsome manner in which he supplied the library with the public documents at his disposal; and the election of that gentleman as a life member of the Association was a fitting acknowledgment of the interest uniformly manifested by him in its welfare. A second supplementary catalogue was published during the year. The entire receipts of the Association for the year were $2,153.21, and the expenditures $2,080.47.

May 7th, 1860—The election of officers for this year was more severely contested, and excited a larger degree of public interest than ever before in the history of the Association. The week which intervened between the annual meeting and the day of election (a change resulting from the Revised Rules and Regulations adopted the year before,) gave time for the holding of meetings and the discussion of the merits of the various candidates nominated. By the established custom of the Association the ticket first nominated claims to be the "Regular Ticket," and whatever comes after that is compelled to assume some other name. On this occasion half a dozen different tickets were put in circulation, but before election day a consolidation was effected, and the field was left clear for the two tickets named respectively the "Regular" and "Opposition." And bravely was the battle fought. Many of our leading professional and business men entered the contest as if the most momentous consequences were depending upon it. Every member was canvassed and arguments the most convincing used on both sides. Newspaper squibs appeared preferring the most serious charges against the candidates, flaming placards were posted on every available corner, and the rooms presented a scene of excitement never surpassed at the polls on any political election in the city. The result was the election of the entire "Regular Ticket." Nearly 500 votes were cast. It is much to be desired that something of the kind could be stirred up every year, as it undoubtedly tends to awaken a lively interest in the Association, and sets its objects before the public mind in the most advantageous light.

The year proved one of extraordinary financial prosperity for the Association, and, to quote the language of the Annual Report of the Directors, "for the first time in the history of the Association the revenues from ordinary sources (not including lectures) were more than sufficient to meet the running expenses." The total receipts for the year were $2,883.61, and the expenditures $2,697.68. In the month of september a fire took place in the library, but it was fortunately discovered and extinguished before much damage was done. The amount ($250), received from the Insurance Company, amply covered the injury sustained. During the year, 234 new members were added, making the whole membership 845, a number which will compare favorably with that of similar institutions in many larger and much older cities. One fact worth noting is that the ladies' membership increased during this year from 19 to 31. The course of lectures, managed by O. E. Britt, Esq., was one of the most successful ever given by the Association—the net profits footing up $576. The improved condition of the Association having greatly increased the business devolving upon the Librarian, an Assistant was accordingly appointed at a salary of $4.00 per month, which was afterward raised to $8.00. During the year 624 volumes were added to the library at a cost of about $800.

May 13th, 1861—This election passed with much less stir than for several years previous, owing to the excited state of the country at that time. The Board found the Association in a highly prosperous condition, but it is not to be expected that much progress will be made, during a time when all public institutions of this character must suffer more or less from the terrible consequences of the rebellion, which is menacing the very existence of the Government under which we live—a government, it should here be said, whose genius is to foster every enterprise of a peaceful and improving nature. It is not the intention of the Directors, however, to relax their efforts for the welfare and improvement of the Association, as the publication of this catalogue will sufficiently indicate. The large additions made to the list of newspapers and periodicals, is another evidence of their intention not to diminish the advantages and attractions offered by the Association ; and it is earnestly to be hoped that the public support will not be withdrawn from an institution capable of exerting so large a degree of usefulness, and that nothing will occur to stay its advancement in the career of prosperity upon which it has now so fairly entered.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

As the present catalogue differs, in some material respects, from those previously issued by the Association, an explanation of the plan adopted in making it, which otherwise might have been deemed superfluous, becomes necessary.

In the CATALOGUE proper, the rule followed has been to enter each work, alphabetically, under the name, if known, or pseudonym of the author, editor or translator, and the title of those published anonymously, commencing, whether abbreviated or not, with the first word of the original, articles excepted. First under an author's name are placed acknowledged original works, in alphabetical order, after which follow those attributed to him, or that he may have edited, or written in connection with other authors.

If the initials of a married authoress are unknown, those of her husband are substituted. If her works have all been published before marriage, they are placed under her maiden name; if part, or all since, then under the later name.

In a few instances, in which writers are best known by pseudonyms, those are placed first, and their real names follow in parentheses, italicised. If initials are given instead of the author's full name, the work is entered under the last initial.

Royal and oriental writers, and others known chiefly by their first or christian names, are so entered. Noble authors under their titles (Derby, Shaftesbury, etc.), except in the instances in which they are better known by their family names, Horace Walpole, for example. Surnames with the prefixes de, d', van, von, are placed under the names (Tocqueville, Lamartine, Humboldt, Raumer, etc.), and not under the prepositions, unless they have become English surnames, (De Quincey, Van Buren, etc.) Le, Les, L' Ia. Du, Des, (as in Le Normant, Du Chuilla, etc.), are considered parts of names, and govern the entry. Foreign compound surnames are recorded under the initial of the first name (Mendelssohn, Stael, etc.), except when the last is more familiar, as in the cases of Fenelon, Aubigne, etc.

Regard for size and expense has compelled the abridgment of lengthy titles of books, and the omission of personal titles, unless component parts of names,* or, when used by way of explanation to distinguish authors having the same initials. For the same reason no notice has been taken of biographical sketches, annotations, and other editorial augmentations of original works.

Continuous publications, like Presidents' and Governors' Messages, are placed under the names of those who first occupied the respective positions, during the period embraced; Newspapers and Periodicals the same, or fall-

*Those of the English Nobility, Baronets (and Knights when expressed by a term common to both), and their foreign equivalents. The compiler is aware of the difficulty of making a satisfactory rule in this case, though the absence of cross-references in the body of the work, rendered it desirable. Precedent, however, has in a measure restricted the use of titles, in this connection, so many, perhaps, be correctly termed civil, as distinguished from ecclesiastical, military, and naval titles, embracing, as they do, all that may, in certain contingencies, become permanently attached to English family names.

Books in which pictures constitute the text, and letter-press the illustrations, are catalogued under the name of the designer or engraver.

Names entered interrogatively, indicate, in some instances, a suggested authorship, in others a doubt regarding those, to which the works in question are attributed. The abbreviation (Ed'r) is used as an equivalent for editor, compiler, reporter, and all others, original authors and translators excepted, under whose supervision books may have been published.

If a given work is the joint production of two or more writers, it will be found under the first named; if a collection of the writings of several authors on one subject, it should be looked for under the name of the editor, if there be one, otherwise under that of the first contributor; but if distinct works of several authors are bound together without a common title, then each of them is treated as an independent publication.

Abbreviated words are alphabetized as if written in full. For uniformity and convenience, names with the prefix O' are catalogued as if it were a contraction of Of, although the authorities are divided as to the orthography of the original word.

The CLASSIFIED INDEX has been divided into twelve general departments, each of which is subdivided under specific heads, in the order of the table of contents; Poetry, The Drama, and Fiction, although subdivisions of Literature, being kept distinct for the convenience of readers. Within the subdivisions, Collected Writings, (when so classed), Sermons, Miscellaneous works, Essays, Speeches, Lectures and Addresses, Letters and Correspondence and Facetiæ, are arranged alphabetically, by authors (right hand column); Poems, Dramas, and Prose Fiction, by titles; Individual Biography by subjects. The other categories are arranged either chronologically or geographically, or, with reference to the minor subdivisions of subjects, that which is general taking precedence of that which is special. For instance, under Great Britain are first given general histories of England, after which follow the early chronicles, the annals of different reigns and periods, in chronological order, Topography, Statistics, etc., etc.

The term Collected Writings, as used here, refers to the entire or partial collection of one author's works; Selections and Quotations, to the productions of several authors in one publication,—with the exception of Colton's Lacon and Mann's and Joubert's Thoughts.

Cyclopædias, Dictionaries, Collected Writings, Books of Selections, Periodicals and Newspapers, and Public Documents, devoted to one subject, are placed under the specific head, or are classed by themselves in the department to which the subject belongs. If more general, or purely literary in character, then they will be found in Literature, under distinctive heads. Some Reports, however, originally published in separate form, are incorporated in the Executive or Miscellaneous Documents of subsequent years, and should be sought accordingly. Department Reports, except those on Finance, are embraced in Presidents' Messages and Accompanying Documents.

Prose translations of Classic Poets are retained under Poetry, notwithstanding any changes which may have been made in title. In the case of series of works, the Bridgewater Treatises, for instance, the specific title is followed, and the common name placed in parenthesis. Books in foreign languages are so designated, unless indicated by their titles. Juvenile Works, included in Prose Fiction, embrace all narratives intended for children and youth, whether histories, biographies, travels, or pure fiction.

The orthography of the respective title pages has been preserved (including intentional mis-spelling, and that of early editions), except in authors' names, which is made to conform to present usage.

Numbers 19,001 to the end, are composed of Works of Reference, which are permanently retained in the Library for reference and consultation there only, except as provided by the Rules.

—The officers of the Association have hitherto been deterred from attempting a catalogue like the one now presented, by a consideration of the increased time involved in its preparation, and the apparent difficulty which might arise, unless works of a mixed or indefinite character were entered in as many categories as they would properly or probably be looked for. It has been determined, however, to place every book, once, under the head to which it most obviously belongs, awaiting the time when the means of the Association will permit a more complete analysis of the contents of the Library.

In thus grouping together works the most dissimilar in title, though really allied in character, the catalogue will be enhanced in value to all who are desirous to know the resources of the Library on any given theme of investigation. Those, however, who have made the experiment, will appreciate the difficulty, without an indefinite multiplication of heads, of finding terms at once so generic and exact, as precisely to characterize all the books sought to be classed under them. A few examples are accordingly cited to show the scope of such combinations as have been adopted: Works treating of the relations existing between science and religion, will be found in Natural Theology; burlesque imitations of popular novels, in Facetiae; romantic narratives about real events and personages, in the past, written in the style of the period, are classed under Miscellaneous in Literature; the heading Temperance embraces works in which the question is viewed in its dietetic, moral and legal aspects; that of Woman, works in which the subject is considered from historical, moral, civil and social points of view. In further explanation, some cross-references are added, to indicate other sources of information on special topics:

From Biography to Sacred Biography.

From History to Civilization, and Sacred Ecclesiastical and Political History.

From Antiquities, Manners and Customs to the corresponding category under Theology.

From Sacred History to Jews.

From Fine Arts to Æsthetics.

From Gymnastics to Recreative Arts.

From Travels in the Holy Land to Universal Travels, and generally (especially in the departments of History, Biography and Travels) from the smaller to the larger categories, and vice versa.

The supposed lack, during the preparation of the catalogue, of the proper typographical facilities in the city, will account for the absence of accented letters in the following pages.

The indulgence of the critical reader is asked for whatever errors may have escaped observation, during the limited period to which the labor of cataloguing was necessarily restricted, in a field, too, where success can only be comparative. The Librarian will be happy to have his attention called to any departure from the above rules which may be noted in the catalogue.
